FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 16, 2013

Da Vinci Capital acquires a stake in First Collection Bureau, Russia's leading debt collection agency.

Moscow, July 16, 2013 — First Collection Bureau (the Company), one of Russia's leading debt collection agencies, announced today that funds managed by Da Vinci Capital acquired a significant stake in the Company. The new investor joins existing investors Baring Vostok Fund V and the Company's founders.

"This transaction marks a new milestone in building the pool of professional investors in the Company that will propel its development. It confirms our leading position in the industry, the growth of the Company and the success of our chosen strategy", said First Collection Bureau CEO, Pavel Mikhmel.

"First Collection Bureau is a rapidly growing major Russian debt collection agency focused on a loan portfolio acquisition business model, well positioned to capitalize on the expanding consumer finance market, unmatched country-wide footprint and proprietary time-tested portfolio pricing methodology", said Oleg Jelezko, managing partner at Da Vinci Capital.

About First Collection Bureau

Established in 2005, First Collection Bureau is the leading debt collection agency in Russia. With more than 500 collectors countrywide covering 82 regions First Collection Bureau enables its clients to collect the maximum on their defaulted loan portfolios in a timely and cost-efficient manner. The Company also acquires defaulted loan portfolios from banks, which enables them to reverse bad debt reserves and reduce downward pressure on capital adequacy levels; this in turn stimulates lending and decreases interest rates. Defaulted borrowers benefit from reduced payments after loans outstanding are restructured by the Company. First Collection Bureau works with both consumer and corporate loans. Most of the Top-50 banks are among First Collection Bureau's clients. Value of the portfolios under management amounted to ca. US$ 2bn as of Q2 2013.
